- 1. Publication or communication to any unauthorized persons of experiences of escape or evasion from enemy-occupied territory, internment in a neutral country, or release from internment not only furnishes useful information to the enemy but also jeopardizes future escapes, evasions and releases.
- 2. Personnel will not, unless authorized by the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, War Department General Staff, publish in any form whatever or communicate either directly, or indirectly, to the press, radio or an unauthorized person any account of escape or evasion of capture from enemy or enemy-occupied territory, or internment in a neutral country either before or after repatriation. They will be held strictly responsible for all statements contained in communications to friends which may subsequently be published in the press or otherwise.
- 3. Evaders, escapees, or internees shall not be interrogated on the circumstances of their experiences in escape, evasion or internment except by the agency designated by the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, War Department General Staff, or the corresponding organization in overseas theaters of operations. In allied or neutral countries, American Military Attaches are authorized to interrogate on escape, evasion and internment matters.
- 4. On the Le BOUNGET raid, 16 August 1943, we were flying tail-end Charlie of the high squadron, low group. Just after we dropped our bombs number two engine ran a-way and had to be feathered. We dropped back and were hit by German fighters. We were losing altitude and speed and could not keep up with the formation. Numbers one and four engines were smoking and throwing oil. I heard the pilot order number three to be feathered. When he gave the order to jump, I followed the navigator out the nose escape hatch at about 15,000 feet. I saw one parachute below me. I pulled my parachute too fast and went unconscious. When I pulled my parachute too fast and went unconscious. When I property a sciousness, I was still in mid air. I seemed to have a mouthful of teeth. An FW buzzed me and seemed to be trying to spill my parachute.

I hit the ground and was pretty beat up. I took off my equipment, buried my parachute and maewest, walked about 10 yards, and took off my flying boots, jacket, and coveralls, and buried them too. Actually I think I was much too slow about all this business. I discovered that the shroud lines of the parachute had apprently while I was eating some caught me about the face and done a little damage. I heard someone coming and hid. Two women passed me without making any sign of recognition. I took out my escape compass and started walking south. Before I had gone very far, I saw a beautiful bed of ferms. It seemed to be a perfect hiding place, so I crept in it and went to sleep.

when I woke up later in the afternoon, I heard people whistling the V-signal and yelling. A man came up to me, spoke to me, and asked me whether I was hurt. I assured him that I was not hurt but that I was hungry and thirsty. I used my phrase list to convey this information, and it proved most helpful. The man said that he would come back. I slept some more. After a couple of hours I heard someone walking about and yelling. I was not sure that it was the same man, so I let him go on if he could not come back to the same place, When things quieted down, I started walking though the woods. I traveled until it was too dark to move and then curled up by a tree and went to sleep. I had water from a lift pind. I filled my by a tree and went to sleep.

The next morning I started off again. I came to a clearing and saw a farmhand at work. I understood from S-2 lectures that farm people were the best to approach, so
