A Hitch in Hell *

I
I’m sitting here and thinking of the things I’ve left behind
And I have to put on paper, what is running through my mind
We’ve dug a million ditches, and cleared ten miles of ground
A meander place this side of hell, is waiting to be found
But there’s one small consolation --- gather closely while I tell
When we die we’ll go to heaven -- for we’ve done our hitch in hell

II
We’ve built a thousand kitchens, for the cooks to stew our beans
We’ve stood a million guard mounts, we’ve never acted mean
We’ve washed a million mess kits, and peeled a million spuds
We’ve rolled a million blanket rolls, and washed the captain’s duds
The number of parades we’ve stood, is very hard to tell
But we’ll not parade in heaven -- for we’ve done our hitch in hell

III
We’ve killed a million rats and bugs, that crawled out of our eats
We’ve pulled a thousand centipedes, from out our dirty sheets
We’ve marched a million miles, and made a million camps
The grub we’ve had to eat at times, has given us the cramps
But when our work on earth is done, our friends behind will tell
They surely went to heaven -- for they did their hitch in hell

IV
When final taps is sounded, and we’ve laid aside life’s cares
We’ll do our last parade upon, those shining golden stairs
The angels will all welcome us, and harps will start to play
We’ll draw a million canteen checks, and spend them all one day
The Great Commanding General, will smile on us and tell
Take a front seat soldiers -- You’ve done your hitch in hell.

A Hitch in Hell

I'm sitting here and thinking of the things I've left behind,
And I have to put on paper, what is running through my mind.
I've knitted a million stitches, and cleaned ten miles of ground,
And the ones who are waiting this side of hell, is waiting to be found.

And then one consolation — gather closely, while I tell:
When we die we'll go to heaven — for we've done our hitch in hell.

We've built a thousand kitchens for the cooks to stew our beans
We've stood a million guard mounts, with mugs askew mean.
We've washed a million mess kits, and peeled a million spuds,
We've called a million blanket rolls, and washed the captain's duds.

But number of pounds we've stooped is very hard to tell.
But we'll not parade in heaven — for we've done our hitch in hell.

“We've killed a million rats and bugs, that crawled out of our nets
We've pulled a thousand antipodes, from out our dirty sheets.
We've marched a million miles, and made a million camps
The grab we've had to eat at times, has given us the cramps.

But when our work on earth is done, our friends behind will tell
They surely went to heaven — for they did their hitch in hell.
When our taps is sounded, and we've laid aside life's cares
We'll do our last parade upon those shining golden stairs
The angels all will welcome us, and harps will start to play
We'll draw a million canteen checks and spend them all one day
The great commanding General with us, and tell us
All is right, and it's all done, and we'll go to our home

A Hitch in Hell

I’m sitting here and thinking of the things I left behind,
And I’d hate to put on paper what is running through my mind.
We have dug a million ditches, cleared a million miles of ground
And a lousier place than this darn hole is waiting to be found.
There’s a certain consolation though, so listen as I tell,
When we die we’ll go to heaven for we’ve done our stretch in hell---

We’ve built a million kitchens for the cooks to burn our beans.
We’ve stood a million guard mounts and cleaned the camp latrines.
We’ve rolled a million blankets and washed our dirtyduds,
We’ve washed a million mess kits and peeled a billion spuds,
The number of parades we stood is very hard to tell,
There’ll be no parades in heaven, for we’ve done our hitch in hell---

We’ve killed a million ants or bugs that crawled from out our food,
And shook a million centipedes from bunks and sheets that stood,
We’ve marched a hundred million miles and pitched a million camps,
We’ve pulled a million leaches, from out our khaki pants.
But when our work on earth is done, our friends behind will tell,
That we have gone to Heaven for we’ve done our hitch in hell---

And when the final taps are played and we lay aside our cares,
And do our final big parade, right up those golden stairs,
The angels will all welcome us as the harps begin to play,
And we’ll draw a million canteen checks and spend them all that day.
Gabriel will blow his horn and St. Peter proudly yell:
“FRONT SEATS YOU GUYS FROM GORDON JOHNSTON, YOU’VE DONE YOUR HITCH IN HELL.”----

*Note: Mr. Harvey also donated a Company history, as well as two large photos of water craft used by the men of the 376th. Included with the photos is the following information: One photo is U.S. Army QS 44 which was 110 to 125 feet long with a crew of 23. It was powered by 16 cylinder Allison Aircraft engines. A shallow draft allowed it to go into shallow water to pick up wounded soldiers, generals, etc. who needed to get somewhere fast. It had a top speed of 35 knots. The other photo was the U.S. Army ST 24 Deep Sea Tug which had a crew of 10. Its speed was about 18 knots, if no ships were in tow. Mr. Harvey served aboard the ST 66 when we occupied Japan. The photos were taken in Marivales Harbor, Philippines, in 1945. Ed

Note accompanying image below: “My grandfather did a variation of that poem in WWII. Our family thought he wrote it but it looks like he only changed some of the words. He was also in the CCC camps and i’ve seen other variations of it with the CCC as well. He named it a ‘Hitch in Hell’. There was also a note claiming it was composed in WWI

A Hitch in Hell

I am sitting here and thinking of things I left behind,
And I'd hate to put on paper what is running through my mind.
We have dug so many ditches, cleaned a hundred miles of ground,
Another share this side of hell, I'm sure cannot be found.
There's a certain consolation though, so listen as I tell
When we die we'll go to heaven, because we've done our hitch in hell.

We have built so many kitchens where the cook can slew his beans,
We have built a million gun mounts and cleaned the camp latrines,
We have washed a million pots and we've peeled a million spuds,
We have rolled up many a blanket and washed the CCC's duds.
In heaven there'll be no revilles,
Cause we've done our hitch in hell.

We have killed a million ants and bugs that crawl upon our cans,
And chased a million centipedes and snakes from our filthy sheets,
We've marched a hundred thousand miles and hitched a million camels,
We've picked the cactus thorns from the seats of khaki pants.
There men all went to heaven,
Cause they've spent their hitch in hell.

We've taken aramine daily, those bitter little pills,
To fortify our system against the fever and the chills.
We've seen a million ack-ack bursts above us in the sky,
As we ran for our slit trenches when the 'wicky wickers' fly.
'Up out those lights and cigarettes,' we heard the sergeant yell,
This isn't any picnic, it's another hitch in hell.

Oh when the final taps are sounded and we shed our earthly cares,
We'll pull our best medals of all upon the golden chains,
The angels will be there to greet us and their harps will gladly play,
We'll show a million can't see checks and send them all in a day.
We'll hear Gabriel blow his horn, and St. Peter proudly yell,
'You've spent your hitch in hell.'

P.S. To whom it may concern:
If you don't believe it, then just enlist and come here. THAT'S A DARE!
